The software is basicly a clone of a software based on the open source GPL. You can see the exisiting GPLed software here: The executable is distributed as Win32 app, so you need a valid Windows Installation (either direct or per-user). The library itself is an older library that was distributed on a CD in the freeware-product, but it doesn't get in a stand-alone installation. The screenshow has been made for the GPLed software only and not for the freeware-product. We will be happy if you sent me a
